Lakewood, Colorado (PRWEB) November 15, 2017 -- American Auto Shield (AAS) is pleased to announce that we have reached more than 200 customer reviews on Trustpilot.

Though American Auto Shield specializes in Auto, ATV, Motorcycle and Off-Road Motorcycle coverage and claims administration, our customers' satisfaction has always remained most important to us. Our commitment to innovation, quality service and the importance of maintaining and evolving the unparalleled quality of our products and services sets us apart from the competition.

“Our customers mean everything to us, and we recognize the importance of the service we provide for them. We want to make the claims process as easy and stress-free as possible so that our customers can get their vehicles back on the road as quickly as possible. By providing services such as direct and online claim filing and customer support, we’re resetting expectations for what customer service means for claims administrators in the automotive aftermarket industry,” said Jason Currier, American Auto Shield Vice President of Sales and Marketing.

Why Trustpilot?

Not only is Trustpilot completely independent, they verify each review to ensure potential customers are reading legitimate reviews from actual AAS customers. Potential customers can therefore make the best purchasing decision based on those reviews. With consumers increasingly consulting online review sites for guidance on purchasing decisions, Trustpilot provides companies with the tools and technology necessary for efficiently integrating reviews as part of their communications with customers. Recognizing the importance of these reviews, American Auto Shield encourages customers and their repair facilities to leave honest feedback about their claims experiences.

“Positive reviews allow us to see that our specialized customer service and streamlined claims process is being well received. Poor reviews allow us to learn and grow as a company by focusing on suggestions from our customers and their repair facilities. These suggestions enable us to provide a superior service so that we can continue to be the best choice for Vehicle Service Contract coverage,” said Becky Swartz, American Auto Shield Public Relations Specialist.
