

Wayaonline.com Introduces Biker Art

What is Biker Art? The artist believes it embodies the spirit of those who still seek independent thinking and self reliance. It represents freedom, freedom of the road, and freedom to follow your dreams...and as everyone knows, the price of freedom is to be ever vigilant. These pieces are drawn of fine pencil original artwork from photos worked into a montage theme depicting riders of the road, free spirits, patriotic heroes and vanishing cultures.

(PRWEB) August 1, 2005 -- Wayaonline.com, one of the internet's leading websites for quality leather apparel, has recently teamed up with a highly talented artist, Anthony Vittone, to bring you outstanding quality in original fine pencil artwork.

Waya online is proud to display and offer these original pieces to the public. Some of his work will undoubtedly go into print. Wayaonline.com is where you will find the originals.

Artist background;

He has been drawing for nearly 40 years and is a graduate of Henry Ford Community College with a background in Fine Arts. He has done commission pieces from portraits to military art work. He has designed and prototyped the National Bereavement Card for Sheriff Michael Bouchard of Oakland County, MI and has a line of military Christmas Cards that have gone as far as Baghdad. He produces police, military, and wildlife Christmas cards every year along with note cards of various subjects, in particular, wildlife. His work is currently on display at the Republic Bank in Grand Blanc MI. on Saginaw St. He also has an upcoming show on Aug. 6 and 7, in Lexington, MI which is North of Port Huron, MI., for anyone interested viewing or purchasing his work. He works exclusively in black and white pencil and the technique of layering that he applies brings a 3-D effect to the work.

This artist, Anthony Vittone, will also do commission pieces exclusively through www.wayaonline.com. Visitors to this site will also find high quality leather apparel and motorcycle jackets in various types of leather offering protection and style.
