DALLAS – The American Drag Racing League (ADRL) has seen success thanks to a number of factors, including loyal race fans, hungry racers, and sponsors willing to step up and foot the bill for the ADRL's famous free tickets. One of the most prominent companies to do so has been Larry Jeffers' Extreme Racing Oil & Fuel, so much so, it was named the Official Racing Oil of the series as well as the title sponsor of the 2022 ADRL Tour Presented by RJS Racing Equipment.

The tour kicks off Friday at the Texas Motorplex here for Dragstock. With the tickets being free, the only cost to get onto the property is $20/carload for parking. To print out all the free tickets you need for this weekend's race, visit <https://www.adrltour.com/print-free-tickets>.

Extreme Racing Oil & Fuel's mission is to be the industry leader in the research, marketing, and selling of high quality race oil, race fuels, and performance lubricants. They accomplish this by ensuring their products and service are of the highest quality.

"I'm a racer," said Jeffers, Extreme Racing Oil & Fuel's CEO. "I've raced with the ADRL for a number of years and it's the best eighth-mile action you're going to find. I believe in what this group and these racers can do. If I didn't, my companies wouldn't be affiliated. It's that simple."

"Having Larry Jeffers and his business involved with us is only a positive," said ADRL Promoter Mel Roth. "Between his love of drag racing and his dedication to both his race team and his 'day job' sets the example we want to set with the ADRL."
