SUBJECT: LIMOS.com domain name SOLD for Lump-Sum Cash Payment to an Arizona Corporation

11/01/99: PHOENIX (AZ): XENEFOX Media Corporation (<http://limousinesonline.com>) has announced they have purchased exclusive rights to the domain name "WWW.LIMOS.COM" from Real Estate Limited, a Canadian held company for a lump sum cash payment.

Exact cash value of the deal was not disclosed, however XENEFOX Media Corporation will assume full and exclusive rights to the LIMOS.com property and will convert the site over to their existing operating model now offered at LimousinesOnline.com.

"Limos.com will significantly bolster traffic into our site and allow internet consumers direct access to the Limousine Search Service now employed at LimousinesOnline.com", exclaims Michael Composto, Senior Administrator. "Instead of using search engines, consumers are now turning to 'generic internet searches' in hopes to find what they are looking for. With Limos.com, consumers will find our search service immediately which will result in consistent dividends to limousine services employed in our service."

XENEFOX Media Corp. provides an interactive Limousine Search Directory and information resource for consumers featuring limousine and transportation companies from around the globe. It is reported that XENEFOX will phase-out the promotion and use of LimousinesOnline.com as its primary operating name and target efforts into Limos.com. Composto states, "This action was needed as our service needed a distinct branding image which couldn't be achieved at LimousinesOnline.com"
