A Vehicle for Every Application

Carryall® utility vehicles are available with electric, gas or diesel powertrains and in two- and automatic all-wheel drive two- and four-passenger models that sense the ground they are on and shift automatically.

Electric Carryall LSVs are street legal on public roads with speed limits of 35 mph or less in most state. The larger ones work like pickup trucks, without the price tag. You’ll get up to 30 miles per charge, reduce your carbon emissions by tons per year, and keep your crews and cargo moving.
