

JESTEC Industries and Classic Car Guy brings hi tech to an old hobby.

(PRWEB) September 2, 2000 -- Classiccarguy.com provides enthusiasts with a chance to buy and sell a piece of history.

Monday, August 28th

San Francisco, CA — JESTEC Industries, the company that is "setting your course on the Internet," and Classiccarguy.com, an online community for car collectors and hobbyists, announced the successful launch of Classiccarguy.com. This event marks the premiere of a unique Internet service.

Hobbyists turning to the web has been a growing trend in the recent past. JESTEC Industries helped Classiccarguy.com reach their online potential. Michael Johnson, president of Classiccarguy.com describes classiccarguy.com as "packed with serious information for the classic car enthusiast and plenty of classic cars for sale to browse."

Classiccarguy.com partnered with JESTEC Industries to design and implement an Internet solution providing a marketplace for enthusiasts over the web. The project took the website for travel.com traditional business model, added JESTEC Industries industry knowledge and expertise, and created a system that boasts outstanding security, speed, reliability, and flexibility. The final solution allows customers to advertise their classic car online, track the number of views their car gets, as well as searching through an extensive database of cars.

Classiccarguy.com chose JESTEC Industries because of their flexibility, talented staff, and full suite of service offerings. Says Michael Johnson, "Jestec has not only created for me a first rate website but has proved beyond the shadow of a doubt to be a first rate enterprise. From the first hand-shake to the last and at every step between I felt complete confidence and assurance that they were about to help me to realize a dream."
