

Agreed Value Car Insurance Quotes Now Presented to Vintage Car Owners Online at Auto Portal

Agreed value car insurance quotes are now presented online to owners of vintage cars, sports cars or collectible cars through the Auto Pros company. All rates are quoted at <http://autoprosusa.com/insurance>.

Detroit, MI (PRWEB) January 02, 2014 -- Vehicle owners who have invested in expensive vehicles like classic cars or sports cars are expected to be among the new group of car owners who benefit from the Auto Pros company online. This company has added agreed value car insurance quotes in its public system at <http://autoprosusa.com/insurance>.

These quotes are direct from insurance agencies within United States able to provide guaranteed coverage for replacement value of collector vehicles. The agreed value rates that these insurers are providing are not offered by all companies underwriting standard policies for vintage vehicle protection.

The vintage car protection plans that are now quoted are based on rates that state level and national providers have prepared. The total loss value of each vehicle is figured into the rates that each vehicle owner utilizing this research tool can discover. All drivers who enter a zip code using the system can start the selection process for quotes online.

"Vintage vehicle owners often attend car shows and other public events that are not always covered in standard policies if damage or other issues happen to vehicles," said a source from the Auto Pros company.

The insurance rate quotations that are available to any classic vehicle owner online are one component of the quotes system. Owners of average vehicles seeking rates comparisons from different insurers can now use the locator tool to find a standard or full coverage policy quote.

"Our system is available to any U.S. driver to research insurance plans that range from standard to high value coverage for any type of motor vehicle," the source included.

The Auto Pros USA company has enabled more than one search service online this year. New plans to add other services for public use are now in development. The insurance quotes tool that is featured direct on the company homepage is related to the warranties finder established as an alternate system.

This finder is accessible through <http://autoprosusa.com/auto-warranty> to instantly research a growing list of national auto warranty service providers. The quotes that are viewable when using this resource are accurate at the time of distribution to vehicle owners.
