

AutoPartsWay Now Accepting Bitcoin - Serving United States and Canada

AutoPartsWay now accepts the Bitcoin payment method, in addition to PayPal, Visa, Mastercard, Discover and American Express.

New York, NY (PRWEB) February 05, 2016 -- Looking to burn through some of your Bitcoin? Online retailers have been flocking to accepting this new digital currency. The auto industry has been known for remaining static. AutoPartsWay is changing that reputation and spearheading the way as the first auto parts online retailer accepting Bitcoin.

AutoPartsWay is the one stop shop solution for purchasing auto parts online in Canada and the United States. This online retailer offers a convenient way to search thousands of parts for almost every imaginable vehicle on the road today. It is perfect for those looking for an exhaust system for their Toyota, brakes for their Honda, lights for their Nissan, or any other combination of parts and vehicle make and model needed. Their focus on creating a simple and user friendly experience has been bolstered by their embrace of Bitcoin as a newly accepted payment method. Users can now utilize both traditional methods (Visa, Mastercard, American Express, Discover and Paypal) and the digital currency of Bitcoin. This comes from a major push and popular demand from customers on their website. AutoPartsWay is always listening to consumers and is focused on delivering the best user experience.

The decision to accept Bitcoin places AutoPartsWay with some of the biggest names in retail. This includes Zappos, Amazon, CVS, and even the prestigious auto company Tesla. Today, making purchases online must be fast and easy to process and accepting Bitcoin does just that for customers. Imagine that, we are living in the futuristic world in which the concept of currency and trade is being re-explored to include a commerce system based on a new digital currency. AutoPartsWay is leading the auto parts industry with their decision to recognize the Bitcoin form of payment to help facilitate more transactions. The ability to facilitate transactions at fast speeds and with easy payment options is another sure way the AutoPartsWay believes is the best way to treat customers.

About AutoPartsWay

An online auto parts retailer with a huge selection of exterior, interior, engine, AC, brakes, and other parts for vehicles. AutoPartsWay offers free shipping for orders over $100 in the US and they service both the United States and Canada. This online retailer has simplified the search process for customers to quickly be able to identify and purchase the exact part for their vehicle. AutoPartsWay is the first online auto parts dealer that has decided to accept Bitcoin for all purchases.

Contact Information

Kamil Wszola

AutoPartsWAY

<http://www.autopartsway.ca>

+1 6465881235

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.