Kingston, OK (PRWEB) February 17, 2016 -- CM Truck Beds is proud to introduce the new AL RS Truck Bed Model. Providing a durable all aluminum body at a great price point, CM's AL RS is a work truck body that comes standard with superior features.

CM Truck Beds' AL RS is an all-aluminum truck bed designed to handle the heaviest loads. This new truck bed model features LED lighting, extruded aluminum floors, and rub rails on the outside for multiple tie points while utilizing the OEM hitch. It is also stronger, lighter, and anti-corrosive when placed under harsh elements.

Additionally, this truck bed also comes standard with an angled fuel fill, 3" extruded aluminum crossmembers, rear bed corners tapered for maximized turning radius, 3 ½ by 3 ½ headache tube rack that allow protection for its cargo, industry leading structural channel frame runners, and more.

CM Truck Beds is the household name for truck bodies and has been building household factory beds for more than 20 years. Their dedication and loyalty to producing only the best body haulers have made them the most highly recommended truck bed manufacturer in the country. Standing by their reputation but always looking to the future, CM Truck Beds is proud to stand behind their battle tested haulers.
