

Family Motor Coach Association to Conduct Search for Executive Director

FMCA announces the search for its next executive director.

Cincinnati, Ohio (PRWEB) February 26, 2016 -- Family Motor Coach Association (FMCA), an international organization for motorhome owners, based in Cincinnati, Ohio, has announced a search for its next executive director. After more than 16 years of service to the association, Jerry Yeatts has resigned from this position, and a committee is being formed to conduct the search.

"We appreciate the many contributions Jerry Yeatts made to Family Motor Coach Association," commented FMCA president Charlie Adcock.

"Jerry began his time at FMCA as the director of conventions and commercial services and was responsible for coordinating many successful events, among them FMCA's largest-ever convention to date. He stepped into the role of executive director at a challenging time for the RV industry and for FMCA, and he helped to set the course that we are on today toward renewed growth. As a motorhome owner himself, Jerry understands the needs of FMCA members and motorhome owners in general and was an advocate for FMCA and its members within the industry and beyond. We thank Jerry for his dedication to FMCA during the past sixteen years, and we wish him well."

Family Motor Coach Association leaders have begun the process of seeking a qualified candidate to fill the position of executive director and help guide the association as it continues in its mission to promote and enhance the motorhome lifestyle.
