NADAguides warns car buyers of fake “NADAguides” websites being used to perpetrate an apparent scam

Costa Mesa, Calif. (PRWEB) February 26, 2016 -- NADAguides warns car buyers of fake “NADAguides” websites being used to perpetrate an apparent scam. These websites, which are neither authorized by nor in any way connected with NADAguides, attempt to solicit funds from buyers via an escrow-based program. NADAguides is a publisher of vehicle pricing and valuations online and in print and does not offer a vehicle escrow service.

These unauthorized websites have a similar appearance to the authentic NADAguides.com website. The websites that have come to our attention offer to facilitate vehicle sales transactions including payment and delivery. NADAguides does not offer those services and does not authorize or have any connection with websites or people who offer such services.

We urge you to carefully research the offerings of any website that appears to belong to NADAguides and is not found at our specific URL address: <http://www.NADAguides.com>. More information concerning the unauthorized websites can be found at <https://www.carbuyingtips.com/articles/blog/russian-craigslist-scammers-posing-as-nadaguides.htm>.

NADAguides is working with authorities to provide information and assistance where possible to stop the misuse of the NADAguides reputation that you, our customers, have come to trust.
