

Toyota Vehicles in the 'Most-Researched' Lists For 2005

Miller Toyota Scion your trusted Toyota Dealer in California, reveals North America's most-researched and preferred vehicles for 2005.

Culver City, CA (PRWEB) January 7, 2006 -- Miller Toyota Scion your trusted Toyota Dealer in California, reveals North America's most-researched and preferred vehicles for 2005.

Despite a not-so-good year for the rest of the auto industry, 2005 has been rewarding for Toyota Motors. Toyota vehicles topped several auto awards, the sales increased and now, Toyota dominates the list of most-researched vehicles for 2005.

Edmunds.com has compiled lists of the most-researched new cars and trucks in 2005 and Toyota not only tops the list but also dominates it with the presence of 5 of its models. Toyota Camry is one of the most researched cars for the year 2005 while Toyota Tacoma, Toyota Highlander, Toyota Sienna and Toyota 4Runner dominate the most researched trucks list.

The same is repeated in the Kbb.com Most Researched Vehicles of 2005 list too.

Toyota Camry which is one of the toppers of the two lists is by now legendary for its, performance, safety and value of a Toyota. The Camry is the perfect transportation machine, flawlessly performing its duties, never annoying its owner. The interior is ergonomically excellent, with big climate and audio knobs that are easy to adjust, and the seats are comfortable.

For 2006, the Camry races on virtually unchanged. The five-speed automatic comes with the available four-cylinder engine. As before, the Solara is also available with a V6 engine. The 2006 Solara SE and SE Sport models come standard with power driver's lumbar support. Choose a Camry sedan, Solara coupe, or Solara convertible; be assured of a smooth, quiet car that should offer years of reliable service.

If you are looking for a car, try the Toyota Camry, if it's a SUV, try the Toyota Tacoma, Toyota Highlander or Toyota 4Runner and if it is a minivan, test-drive the Toyota Sienna! At Miller Toyota, there is a Toyota for everybody!
