(PRWEB) December 15, 2015 -- With their fall inventory marketing program entering its third successful month and Christmas just around the corner, Liberty Coach is shining its first December “Coach of the Week” spotlight on a new Elegant Lady that should top everyone’s holiday wish list.

The 2016 Sorvino Edition \(LC Stock No. 799\) is among the few remaining coaches from Liberty’s 2016 model year collection, and as such represents a culmination of the company’s leadership in advanced technology, quality workmanship, and visual style.

It begins a strikingly original scarlet and black design by automotive painting legend Dean Loucks, whose “Art of Design” workshop has custom-finished every Elegant Lady coach for the past three years. Inside, the Sorvino boasts an exceptionally roomy quad slide floorplan that features a full bedroom bath and dual entry hall bath that add up to one of the most elegant bath-and-a-half combinations Liberty has ever offered. The bedroom is similarly opulent, with singular design features that include a king-size bed with PranaSleep mattress and a state-of-the-art 48” curved screen 4K UHD television mounted in the bedroom wall.

The rest of the coach is equally well-equipped. Designer appliances include a Gaggenau cooktop, Miele convection/microwave oven, pantry-style Sub-Zero refrigerator with ice and water dispenser, a Bosch stacked washer and dryer set, and Keurig coffee maker. The fully integrated HDMI audio/video system includes state-of-the-art Marantz Pro-Logic Surround sound components, custom-designed KEF speaker systems, in-motion and HD satellite systems with 3 HD receivers, Winegard electric TV antenna with HD tuners, and a lower-bay entertainment center featuring an incredible 55” 4K UHD television.

Virtually every system and component in the Sorvino can be controlled via the dash-mounted iPad through Liberty Coach’s custom-configured Crestron remote control system, the most advanced in the industry. That includes a number of sophisticated features unavailable in any other motorcoach, including a powerful new, satellite-direct Rand McNally navigation system and a 360-degree “birds-eye view” exterior camera.

The Sorvino is among the few remaining production coaches of Liberty’s 2016 model year, and is on display now at Liberty Coach of Florida in Stuart, which is located just south of Port St. Lucie on the Atlantic Coast. Interested parties are invited to schedule a private showing in advance of visiting, and may do so via phone or email.
