Summit Racing now offers the Detroit Muscle QuickTrick Alignment Combo. It combines a QuickTrick QuickSlide Wheel Alignment Tool with a set of QuickTrick's Wheel Alignment Plates, allowing an enthusiast to easily set front wheel alignment at home.

Tallmadge, OH (PRWEB) April 19, 2016 -- Summit Racing now offers the Detroit Muscle QuickTrick Alignment Combo. It combines a QuickTrick QuickSlide Wheel Alignment Tool with a set of QuickTrick's Wheel Alignment Plates, allowing an enthusiast to easily set front wheel alignment at home with no lift required.

The QuickSlide tool allows the user to check caster, camber, and toe-in in minutes. It is accurate to within 1/10 of a degree, and will help improve steering effort and handling as well as extending tire life. It's also ideal for adjusting alignment settings at the track—and all for less than the cost of two alignments at the alignment shop.

The QuickTrick QuickSlide Tool comes with three patent pending QT Lip Pins that fit on the wheel lip, a digital gauge, instructions, and carrying case.

The Wheel Alignment Combo also includes a set of QuickTrick Alignment Turn Plates. The plates are just 5/16 inch thick, so the car can be pushed or driven onto them—no jack or lift needed. The Turn Plates have a scale that reads from +20 to -20 degrees in one degree increments. A Teflon® coating between the plates prevents binding, so turning the wheels for precise alignment is smooth and accurate. There are no pins to reset nor a pointer that can be damaged.

Using the QuickTrick Alignment Turn Plates is easy:

- Roll the front wheels onto the plates. The bottom plates do not have to be square with the wheels but the wheels should be straight
- Use a dry erase marker or scotch tape to mark the 0 degree position from the scale on the base plates
- Set the caster, camber, and toe with appropriate tools
