

Innovations TV Series Broadcasts New Episode Monday, May 16, 2016 via Discovery

DMG Productions explores the latest advances in technology and beyond.

Jupiter, FL— (PRWEB) May 13, 2016 -- DMG Productions announces the upcoming airing of Innovations with Ed Begley, Jr., scheduled to broadcast on Monday, May 16, 2016 at 7:30aET/7:30aPT via Discovery Channel

This episode will explore SleepSafe Drivers, a company that provides people in risk sensitive positions (or with challenging work schedules) with a complete cost effective program for sleep apnea and fatigue management. Audiences will learn about the risks associated with fatigued driving and how the program allows for easy diagnosis and treatment for sleep apnea in a confidential, convenient, and cost effective manner.

Innovations will also showcase Sensavis, an organization focused on developing education related products to help educators explain complex and abstract subjects. Spectators will see how visual learning can help to ensure inclusive and equitable quality education and promote lifelong learning opportunities for all.

Next, the Innovations team travels to Foothill Ranch, California, to learn about Easy Motion Bikes, an electric bike company developed by BH Bicycle Corporation of Spain. Viewers will learn about Easy Motion's leading edge offerings and what makes them one of the fastest growing, healthy, environmentally friendly forms of fun, fitness, and transportation.

Innovations will also educate on Innohome's Stove Guard and Stove Alarm, designed in Finland, which represent state-of-the-art fire safety technology that can prevent most kitchen fires.

"Technology continues to change the way we think, live, work, and play. Touching nearly every aspect of our lives, we owe much of what we have today to the progress brought about by technology," said Michael Devine, Producer for the Innovations TV series. "We look forward to exploring how technology is paving the path for the future."
