

Over 100 Mobility Dealers Join BLVD.com to Make Travel and Tourism More Accessible for All

Wheelchair Community Can Now Travel Easier with Wheelchair Van Rentals on BLVD.com

(PRWEB) June 15, 2016 -- Accessible tourism is on the rise in the U.S. and more businesses are offering ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) approved accommodations for disabled travelers. According to the Gates Foundation, one in seven travelers require accessible accommodations and by 2020 that number will be closer to 25% of a 1.7 billion population. One of the easiest ways to travel with a disability is by using a mobility device such as a walker, wheelchair, or scooter. However, these types of mobility devices require additional room and even safety equipment to properly be secured while in transit. Wheelchair vans or other types of handicapped accessible vehicles are convenient, safe and easy to use for drivers and passengers alike who require mobility assistance.

BLVD.com connects the disabled community with wheelchair van rental information throughout the country. Visitors to BLVD.com will be able to view local mobility dealers and companies that offer short and long term wheelchair van rentals in their local communities or at a destination that they would like to travel to. There is no charge to view this information or to contact the mobility dealers. By providing wheelchair van rental information to the thousands of disabled travelers, BLVD.com will be able to assist visitors with helpful travel and transportation needs.

Currently, there are over 105 mobility dealers on BLVD.com that offer wheelchair van rentals across the country in popular travel destinations such as California, New York, Arizona, Florida, and Texas. People can visit the Rental page on BLVD.com to find a handicap accessible vehicle near them. The cost to rent a wheelchair van varies depending on the duration that the person needs it, the distance needed to drive, as well as any additional mobility equipment that can be added such as hand controls, tie downs, etc. To receive a free quote, visitors can contact the mobility dealer directly on BLVD.com.

Renting a wheelchair van or handicap accessible vehicle is also a great way to try out the vehicle before purchasing. Many mobility dealers on BLVD.com offer promotions or discounts after renting a vehicle. BLVD.com is the only mobility website that has all the different manufacturers of mobility vehicles such as Rollx, Braunability, VMI, AMS, FR Conversions, and more all on one site. This gives customers the unique ability to compare the various types of brands, conversions, and accessories available from the mobility industry. Never before has this been possible until BLVD.com.
