Miami, Florida, April 2, 2002 -- MotorWeek, television's original and most popular automotive program with host John H. Davis, puts the latest vehicle models to the test. From family sedans, sports cars, minivans and even the exotics take a spin on the MotorWeek test track.

Pat Goss, MotorWeek's resident master technician, helps consumers understand car problems and how to speak the same language as their technician. Feature reporter Jennifer Khasnabis covers nearly every trend and tip in the automobile industry in her enjoyable and fact-filled consumer reports. Feature reporter Craig Singhaus satiates the appetites of car buffs everywhere with historical, humorous, and engaging information on vintage automobiles, international racing and the people behind the scenes.

MotorWeek 20th Annual Driver's Choice Awards winners (in 12 categories) announced at the 2002 Chicago Auto Show are being featured on MotorWeek. Crowding the list of winners this year are U.S. manufactured vehicles, which made a better showing than in years past. They took the majority of the awards. The list of award winners is:

- Best Small Car -- Nissan Sentra
- Best Family Sedan -- Nissan Altima
- Best Minivan -- Dodge Caravan, Chrysler Voyager, and Chrysler Town & Country
- Best Convertible -- Ford Thunderbird
- Best Luxury Sedan -- Cadillac CTS
- Best Sports Sedan -- Subaru Impreza WRX
- Best Performance Car -- Chevrolet Corvette Z06
- Best Small Sport-Utility Vehicle -- Saturn Vue
- Best Family Sport-Utility Vehicle -- Ford Explorer and Mercury Mountaineer
- Best Pickup Truck -- Dodge Ram
- Best Cross-Over Vehicle -- Chevrolet Avalanche and Cadillac Escalade EXT
- Best Dream Machine -- Ferrari 360 Spider, Mercedes-Benz S55 AMG, and Porsche 911 GT2

It's all about competition and good design. U.S. auto manufacturers are continually taking an established theme and driving it to the next level. This year's crop of winners shows how the intense competition spurs manufacturers to make bold moves, said John Davis, host, creator, and executive producer of MotorWeek.

Don't miss MotorWeek on WLRN Public Television, Saturdays at 5 pm.
