

Ford Auto Parts Added to Texas Supplier Database at Used Parts Company Website

Ford auto parts are now included in the Texas supplier database now active at the CarPartsLocator.com website at <http://www.carpartslocator.com/used-ford-auto-parts-dallas-tx>.

Houston, TX (PRWEB) August 04, 2015 -- Buying components from Southern suppliers for Ford motor vehicles will now be a much easier process to complete at the CarPartsLocator.com website online. There are now used Ford auto parts from Texas companies that are being offered for sale. The components database has now been updated to reflect the new providers at <http://www.carpartslocator.com/used-ford-auto-parts-dallas-tx>.

The preowned components that are now available for purchase are now being supplied direct from Texas vehicle dismantlers, scrap yards and other secondary sources. Since most distribution centers are located in TX, the ability to receive expedited shipments is now possible this year. All of the listed components in the CPL database will reflect the new Southern supplier terms of sale.

"We have established our used automotive parts resale website in states like California, Ohio and New York since 2013, and we are now proud to feature Texas supply partners," said a CarPartsLocator.com source.

The used Ford parts that can be purchased are mixed between sedan, truck, SUV and minivan vehicle types. While the majority of what can be purchased is interior components like engines or transmissions, the expanded suppliers now supplying the various parts do carry harder to find components that will now be listed.

"The changes to our inventory and supply team should help people to find steering columns and other complete components when using our website for research," said the source.

The Car Parts Locator company has staffed its service department to handle more phone call volume this summer due to the launch of its sale program. Consumers who call (989) 891-9212 now receive no-wait service for vehicle identification number lookup or direct price requests.

About CarPartsLocator.com

The CarPartsLocator.com company is now one American source to purchase auto parts in used condition from hundreds of different sellers. The company has contracts with salvage providers to list inventory that can be shipped nationally. The CarPartsLocator.com company now has an easy-to-use quotation tool that informs the public about exact pricing for components in stock online.

Contact Information

Greg Shields

CarPartsLocator.com

<http://carpartslocator.com>

+1 (904) 701-4550

Online Web 2.0 Version

You can read the online version of this press release here.