

World Patent Marketing Team Introduces The Quick Start Device, A Game Changing Mobile Device App For Car Owners

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Automobile Invention. Will Quick Start Device Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) July 08, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces the Quick Start Device, an automotive invention designed to provide a fast and effective way of starting the ignition of a vehicle while providing an effective tracking system.

"The Automobile Electronics Manufacturing industry is worth $27 billion," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "As new car sales have increased, so have automobile electronics sales, boosting industry revenue."

"A lot of vehicles nowadays no longer need to use an actual key to start a vehicle," says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Inventions. "Unfortunately, this causes many of these vehicles to get stolen. The Quick Start Device is an automotive invention which will provide not only a convenient way to start a vehicle but will also provide security measures to ensure that vehicles are prevented from being stolen."

The Quick Start Device is an automotive invention created to provide an effective and secured way of starting a vehicle's ignition without the use of a regular key. This invention comprises of multiple steps which make it function efficiently which includes an interactive ignition device that is connected to the ignition switch of a vehicle, the use of a unique code to activate the ignition of the vehicle for added security measures, a computed implemented system which allows the connection of the ignition device and code and the means to indicate authorization status for prevent others from being simply gaining access to it.

"I came up with the idea while working," says inventor Brandon C. "I work in the construction industry and we have a lot of company vehicles and a lot of guys who drive the company vehicles so I thought to myself why not have an app? An app with verification for anyone who drives the vehicle to keep a tracking system on it. So I started thinking more and said hey, why not have an app that verifies your driver's license and car insurance as well that might work for every vehicle. I sat on the idea for about 2 weeks and I thought hey why not pursue it see where it leads. That being said I've pursued it and got in contact with World Patent Marketing to bring my idea to reality and hopefully make a change in the way we drivers drive. Any company with a company driver will be 100% satisfied and worry free about their vehicles being in someone else' hands."

Henry Johnson, a businessman from Maryland, has this to say about the Quick Start Device: "More often than not, I park my car out on the driveway so that it would be easy for me to get in and out off. The Quick Start Device allows me to start my vehicle without having to actually go to it and by the time I go out of the house, the car's engine is heated up and ready to go."

The Quick Start Device is an automotive invention that helps people get more efficiency features from their vehicles.
