Indigio Releases Phase 2 of Budget Truck Rental Website, Expands Relationship with Budget Group, Inc.

- Budget Launches Expanded Website Functionality-

DENVER — Indigio Group, Inc. (www.Indigio.com) announced this week that it was launching Phase 2 of the Budget Truck Rental website for Budget Group Inc. (OTCBB: BDGPA), one of the world's leading vehicle-rental companies and parent company of such well-known rental brands as Budget Rent a Car. Indigio launched and maintained the Budget Truck Rental Website (<http://www.YellowTruck.com/> or <http://www.BudgetTruck.com/>) for the past 18 months. Indigio's on-time delivery of projects has yielded the opportunity to expand its role and become the Internet Agency for Budget's car rental site, www.Budget.com.

"The success of the YellowTruck.com site we constructed surpassed everyone's expectations," said Indigio President Tim Higgins. "The millions of dollars in revenue generated by this site was certainly an eye-opener for Budget Group, and we are very pleased to build on this successful relationship," Higgins continued.

Indigio has forged a close partnership with Budget Group. "We deal directly with the principals of Indigio," said Mike Gavelek, Vice President of Marketing for Budget. "Our relationship is much more than simply telling Indigio what we want and having them produce it. Indigio guides us into new directions and possibilities, like an advisor," he continued. This close client partnership is part of the Indigio model and, according to Higgins, a significant feature in their successful track record with large, well-established companies.

Indigio is also using their "Touch Marketing Services" to help Budget make communications with customers more effective, increasing revenues and decreasing costs. "We're finding ways to convert more site visits to actual Budget reservations, and helping ensure that once someone makes a reservation they'll show up to rent the vehicle," said Higgins. "We're also helping Budget communicate more cost effectively with members of their Perfect Drive customer loyalty program. Using Indigio's Touch Marketing Services allows Budget to keep in touch with its hundreds of thousands of members at a very low cost using e-mail."
