

Â□ MAKING YOUR MOVE A BREEZE Â□ SUSAN FRANKLIN MAPHIS Â□ AUDIOBOOK NOW AVAILABLE

A new audiobook on CD, "Making Your Move A Breeze," has just been released and is designed specifically for learning in the car, while on the go.

(PRWEB) January 22, 2003 -- Elkton, MD, October 31, 2002 Â□ Susan Franklin Maphis is one of the pioneer authors in an exciting new series of audiobooks, currently available on CDs, that is geared to making use of your captive presence in traffic jams while commuting, thus turning your potential frustration and rage into a successful learning and self-improvement experience. Ms Maphis Â□ CD (like each one in the series) is priced at $6.95 Â□ which includes a companion interactive website so you need not take any notes while driving.

Ms. Maphis is the author of the script and the website, but the voice you Â□ll hear is that of Jeanne Reynolds. She is one of the highly experienced professional narrators who have recorded these audiobooks so that the presentations will be of consistently top quality.

You Â□ll discover, while stuck in traffic, resources available to help you find your perfect home, the perfect realtor, and even what mortgage terms are best for you. You Â□ll learn about the importance of getting a home inspection. You will also learn the best, most efficient, and most organized way to pack up your belongings and actually make the physical move. Advice is offered on changing utilities, addresses, and more, without going crazy in the process!

The website not only Â□takes notesÂ□ for you so you can safely drive, it adds lots more information plus the opportunity to ask questions and get answers, and it will be added to and updated regularly. You can use it as a study guide and workbook. You will find that the techniques given can be applied to almost any challenge or problem you may face Â□ not just to those of moving. Susan Franklin Maphis Â□ first rave review is from Drive2Learn itself: Â□ We here at Drive2Learn absolutely love this CD. It is superbly written... Â□

Ms. Maphis is a freelance writer, originally from Oxford, PA, currently living in Elkton, MD and working for the Wilmington (DE) News Journal. Her career also includes writing for weekly newspapers, comedy writing, copywriting, marketing, and academic writing. Maphis Â□ advice is most valuable with the real life insight she offers, gleaned from moves she has made in her own life. And listening has never been more fun as Maphis generously sprinkles her entertaining observations throughout her practical advice. This CD provides real solutions to the real problems and challenges involved in moving, whether it Â□s your first move or your thirty-first.
