Maddocks Systems Forms Strategic Partnership With Warehouse Management Software Provider

Veltion Warehouse Management Solution to Integrate with TruckMate for Windows Enterprise Wide Transportation and Logistics Software

(PRWEB) January 7, 2004 --Maddocks Systems Inc., a leader in transportation and logistics software solutions; has announced a new partnership and software integration agreement with warehouse management software provider Veltion Inc. The partnership will provide users of Maddocks TruckMate for Windows software with a seamless flow of information between transportation functions thru to the warehousing side of operations.

Â This partnership will enable Maddocks to offer an all-in-one solution to trucking fleets or logistics companies that offer transportation services in conjunction with their warehousing operations,Â said Bob Maddocks, President and CEO of Maddocks Systems Inc. "Improving the flow of information between both of these divisions is crucial to efficiently manage company resources and deliver accurate information back to customers."

The packaged transportation/warehousing solution will be designed for transportation companies that currently run warehouses and the growing number of fleets actively diversifying their operations to include warehousing services. Through feedback from current Maddocks clients, an increasing demand was identified for a integrated software solution that could manage both of these complex business operations.

Â Our decision to form this partnership with Maddocks will help us continue our commitment to providing the industry with an on-going evolution of Logistics Execution Systems,Â said Anthony Halkeas, Managing Director of Veltion Inc. Â Our goal is to create advanced, powerful, and reliable Warehouse Management Systems for businesses that require scalable solutions.Â
