

Time to Invest in a China Automotive Stock? The Asia Clipper Analyzes World's Fastest Growing Automotive Market

In the latest edition of its independent research bulletin, Boston-based Asia Clipper outlines the opportunity and warning signs of investing in the world's fastest growing automotive market.

(PRWEB) October 30, 2003 -- Boston, Massachusetts (PRWEB) October 29, 2003. Should U.S. investors jump onto the China automotive industry bandwagon? In the latest edition of its independent research bulletin, Boston-based Asia Clipper outlines the opportunity and warning signs of investing in the world's fastest growing major automotive market.

For several years, the China automotive market has been one of the world's most dynamic. Automobile sales in China have more than tripled since 1995, and are expected to reach US$48 billion in 2003, states Asia Clipper founder Yegin Chen.

The latest issue of the Asia Clipper bulletin describes how U.S. investors can readily take part in the China automotive industry's dramatic growth. It also outlines three significant risks that U.S. investors face due to industry-wide and company-specific developments. The issue also highlights the surprising facts about U.S. manufacturing jobs that are supposedly migrating to low-cost Asian economies.
