

Shadow Combination Trailer - the most fascinating trailer to hit the market for multiple power sports vehicles

Shadow Trailers sets new standards in the custom trailer market by offering an all-in-one combination trailer

Cypress, Calif. (PRWEB) February 1, 2004 --As a company devoted to building the highest quality custom trailers, we are thrilled to introduce what is perhaps the most fascinating trailer to hit the market for multiple power sports vehicles - the Shadow Combination Trailer. This trailer is designed for multiple uses - whether towing ATVs, PWCs, motorcycles, yard machines, and much more.

The Shadow Trailer comes with custom bed-sizes tailored to the buyer's needs. One person can alter the Shadow Combo trailer in minutes with no tools required. To remove a set of PWC bunks, all one has to do is to pull two 5/8 pins and clips. The trailer is equipped with loading ramps that store conveniently underneath. The winch mounts and motorcycle boots are easily removed to make a more versatile trailer for the buyer.

"This trailer is especially beneficial to power sports enthusiasts who demand a multi-purpose, well-built trailer," said Fritz Stanley, president of Shadow Trailers. "Shadow's reputation for quality, accuracy and outstanding customer service is well known in the industry, and that is undoubtedly a major step forward in providing first-class products to our very large number of boating consumers. This is a product we are proud to stand behind."

Shadow Trailers has catered to the custom market where power sports enthusiasts want a trailer to complement their lifestyle. While the company offers many models of standard trailers, what differentiates Shadow Trailer's operation is a willingness to build to the customer's specific needs, regardless of how customized the demands may be. "We want each of our trailers to be as unique and extraordinary as the person buying it."
