Phoenix, AZ (PRWEB) January 01, 2014 -- Extended car warranties are one of the sources of vehicle protection that motor vehicle owners can depend on when accidents happen. The Auto Pros company website is now configured to generate car warranty quotes for 2014 through its locator service at <http://autoprosusa.com/auto-warranty>.

This service is part of the vehicle solutions that are now presented to auto owners online. The installation of the vehicle warranty locator in 2013 established this service as an alternative option to find U.S. companies able to prepare repair protection for new or previously owned vehicles.

The 2014 rates information now displayed with use of the quotes system is designed to prepare vehicle owners for the actual costs of purchasing an extended warranty for imported or American produced automobiles. All insurers and aftermarket agencies preparing each warranty are licensed in the United States.

"Vehicle warranties can be packaged with the original purchase of a new vehicle although most warranties lapse within a three-year period unless extensions are purchased by car owners," said a source from the AutoProsUSA.com company.

One benefit that warranty researchers using the public system online will receive is immediate access to the national or statewide agencies. Because warranty companies can underwrite plans in more than one state, the update to the system for 2014 includes more national agencies.

"Car owners who expect to use the modified system for warranty research online can find coverage for vehicles with high mileage or that have been repaired in the past," the source confirmed.

The warranties research information that the Auto Pros company is now providing online is in addition to the other solutions designed for vehicle owners found on the company website. Research for vehicle insurance is available when entering the locator at <http://autoprosusa.com/insurance> online.

This solution for finding different products for motor vehicle insurance is an optional research tool for North American car owners. This service generates price quotes free of charge from state companies and national providers of insurance online.
