

World Patent Marketing Success Group Offers Motorcycle Riders A Helping Hand With The Bike Header Ramp Winch

World Patent Marketing Reviews A New Automotive Invention. Will Bike Header Ramp Winch Be the Next World Patent Marketing Low Cost Success Story?

Miami, FL (PRWEB) July 18, 2016 -- World Patent Marketing, a vertically integrated manufacturer and engineer of patented products, announces Bike Header Ramp Winch, an Automotive Invention that allows anyone to load a motorcycle on to a truck bed without assistance.

"The Motorcycle, Bike & Parts Manufacturing market is worth $6 billion a year," says Scott Cooper, CEO and Creative Director of World Patent Marketing. "The industry is forecast to increase the efficiency of their production facilities and market their products to a younger market."

"Anyone that has a motorcycle knows just how inconvenient it is to transport," says Jerry Shapiro, Director of Manufacturing and World Patent Marketing Inventions. "As vehicles, they can be used for travel. However, there will always be cases wherein they will need to be transported to and from a truck bed or pick-up van. Bike Header Ramp Winch is an Automotive Invention which gives people the convenience of loading and unloading their motorcycles without asking for assistance."

Bike Header Ramp Winch is made from light-weight aluminum which makes it easy to assemble and use. With it, a motorcycle—or anything that can be moved by a pick-up truck for that matter—can be loaded and unloaded by one person. This Automotive Invention allows a person to drive up through a ramp to load their motorcycle to the back of the truck. The ramp is made of heavy-duty materials to provide support and strength but is still light-weight enough so that it can be folded and lifted by one person. It consists of foot holders with rollers and a slide bar for the rollers to move in. It has a hook, winch, and cable and the entire rig can be adjusted to fit the back of the truck perfectly.

"With this Automotive Invention, there is no need to lift the motorcycle or ask for help in loading or unloading it," says inventor Danny D. "Bike Header Ramp Winch is designed to be used by a single person and works to move anything into a pick-up or trailer. It saves time and makes the entire process more convenient as well."

Chris Colbert, a motorcycle enthusiast and blogger from Akron, OH, has this to say about the Bike Header Ramp Winch: "Traveling on a bike or ATV is all fun and games until the need to transport it to and from locations via pick-up truck arises. A helping hand is almost always mandatory which means going on long trips just to relax and unwind on a whim is next to impossible since more than one person is required just to haul the bike up and down the truck. This Automotive Invention solves this problem easily. Another advantage is that using this won't strain the person's back. Once the Bike Header Ramp Winch is assembled in the back of the truck, getting the bike up and down is simple and easy."

Not everyone has the luxury of manpower when it comes to loading and unloading their bikes or ATVs from the back of a truck. Some people would want an option where they can do it themselves so that they can head out whenever they want to without having to ask for someone to accompany them. The Bike Header Ramp Winch is an Automotive Invention which makes this a reality.
