

"Behind The Scenes" with James Earl Jones spotlights driving safety programs for Public Television

A new piece will look into improving motor vehicle knowledge for drivers...

(PRWEB) July 26, 2016 -- Safe driving is in the spotlight of an upcoming Behind the Scenes segment with host James Earl Jones. In this new segment industry experts take a look at the factors that put drivers at risk and the ways we can become safe on the highway. This compelling and informative documentary will look at some of the unique factors that contribute to accidents and present solutions designed to boost awareness and safety on the road.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, over 2 million people are injured in car accidents each year. While vehicles themselves are becoming safer, distracted driving, drunk driving and inattentive driving continue to cause traffic accidents and fatalities. This episode focuses on the benefits of safe and attentive driving and highlights what can be done to protect drivers and their families on the nation's busy roadways.

The informative and engaging Behind the Scenes program is designed for Public Television and distributed TV stations across the nation. With high definition video and the highest of quality assurance standards, the series also boasts an award winning writing and production team. Host James Earl Jones presents each segment of this individually developed program. The program doesn't have any affiliation to PBS. For more information please visit the site.
