Convergence brings together leaders from across the globe to address the impact of technology insertion and the issues critical to mobility electronics implementation. The show will commence in Novi, Michigan from September 19-21, 2016 and is estimated to bring together 80+ exhibitors and showcase the practical application and implementation of future technologies, and technology in development in automotive electronics, personal mobility, and electronics integration.

"Convergence stands apart in its consistent ability to expose participants to leading-edge technology and software ideas that influence our business," explains Convergence General Chair James Buczkowski, Henry Ford Technical Fellow and Director, Electrical and Electronics Systems, Ford Motor Company. "Through supplier participation and a direct interface with industry leaders and decision-makers of the technologies that now or soon will be integrated into our vehicles, Convergence encourages attendees to extend their professional network, learn from others and consider new innovations."
