

Handbag Holder Invented for Motor Vehicles - Designed by InventHelp Client (SDB-812)

InventHelp is working to submit the HANDBAG & BRIEFCASE HOOK to applicable companies for their review.

PITTSBURGH, PA (PRWEB) November 02, 2015 -- While safety features probably top the list for prospective car buyers, those that add unexpected convenience may just close the deal. An inventor from La Jolla, Calif., has come up with a better way to transport a purse or briefcase by car than is currently available.

She developed HANDBAG & BRIEFCASE HOOK to prevent a handbag or briefcase from falling over on the passenger seat or onto the car floor. As such it keeps the contents of the purse or other bag with handles from spilling in a motor vehicle.

At the same time, it won't obstruct driver's view. Therefore, it eliminates the frustration and distraction to the driver of having no place in a car to hang a purse or other carrier with handles. Besides that, it provides back-seat passengers with a handy place to hang a handbag or briefcase. Also, it accommodates even wide handles of a purse or other carrier. In addition, it is convenient, effective durable, safe and user friendly. It can also provide a place to hang a trash receptacle, child's backpack, coat hanger or even a portable DVD player for a child in a car seat.

The inventor's personal experience inspired the idea. "I invented this basically to avoid having my purse fall over on the seat or onto the floor and having the contents spill out while I'm driving," she said " This also keeps the purse from getting in the driver's way and provides a convenient place to keep it if there's no room in the back seat."

The original design was submitted to the San Diego office of InventHelp. It is currently available for licensing or sale to manufacturers or marketers.
