

Getting Hot In Here, Must Be The Mirrors

Autotecnica Introduces New Styling Line Of Flamed Mirror Accessories

Chatsworth, CA (PRWEB) March 31, 2005 -- Ever wanted to make things a little hotter in the car? Are there flames on everything you own or do you want there to be? If so, here's your chance. Autotecnica, a leader in offering OEM quality styling products announced today, the new styling line of flamed rear view mirrors.

The flamed rear view mirror makes it easy to add serious style for a reasonable price, suggested retail price only $ 53.84. With 5 styles to choose from, there's something to set every heart a flame. Made of polished chrome steel, they are easily installed to the factory mounts and come complete with all the parts necessary to heat up your windshield.

"These mirrors are so hot they're smoldering," says Alan D. Kantor, president and CEO of Autotecnica. "Keeping with the fashion in the fastlane, we designed each mirror to heat up the interior to the point it's cool. These are high-quality parts that fit right and install easily. And they are at the right price. They even come with a three-year warranty."
