Chatsworth, CA (PRWEB) June 12, 2005 -- Autotecnica, the dominating force in offering OEM quality styling products, is pleased to introduce its chrome and brushed aluminum interior dash program. Complete with 3 component kits in both chrome and brushed aluminum look, there are more than 50 applications designed to fit all late model Ford, Chevrolet, GMC and Dodge trucks and SUVs. They are in stock and ready for immediate shipping.

Autotecnica continues to be the first to the table with the most cutting-edge marketing products. Consistent with this philosophy, Autotecnica is pleased to announce its new interior dash components, says Alan Kantor, President of Autotecnica. These products come straight from a factory that supply products directly to various OEMs. As a result, quality and design cannot be topped. This is just another way, Autotecnica continues to demonstrate its dedication and vision to styling products in the aftermarket industry.

The interior dash kits are made up of three component kits (door, dash, and console). They are available in a chrome or brushed aluminum look. They are high-quality parts that fit right and install easily at the right price. With a three-year warranty, these new interior dash components are an easy and quick way to add serious style for a reasonable price. Using 3M tape, they are easy to install and designed to match the chrome exterior accessories, not only supplied by Autotecnica, but all manufacturers of exterior accent pieces.
