

DEEtroit Basketball Invention... Motor City Style. Could this be why the Lakers Lost.

Pickup Hoops is what it is called. It will change the game of basketball forever using the Automobile.

(PRWEB) June 17, 2004 -- Pickup Hoops is a patented portable basketball goal assembly that mounts in the bed of a pickup truck. The base is actually the pickup truck. This means you determine when and where to play some hoops, without relying on the availability of a court.

Pickup Hoops sets up and folds down in under 30 seconds by one person without the aid of a single tool. The assembly is similar to a convertible top in the sense the apparatus will neatly and compactly fold down into the pickup's bed when not in use. When set up for play, the height is adjustable from regulation 10 feet down to 6 feet. Substantial overhang from the rear of the truck is achieved by the innovative design, supplying ample room for baseline play. A pad attaches to the tailgate protecting both players and truck. When the truck is needed for other purposes Pickup Hoops is easily removable.

The Ben Wallace Detroit Pistons Edition Pickup Truck. It just makes sense.

Pickup Hoops gives a wake up call to the Automotive and Sporting Goods world. Both pickup trucks and the game of basketball have been around for over 100 years. Now they have been ingeniously combined.

Pickup Hoops is now available for rent. Get your game on anywhere with Pickup Hoops.

The Inventors are looking to license their patent rights.
