

Craftsman Collision Donates $10,000 to Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation

President and owner Bill Hatswell presents Deborah Cushing of the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation with a $10,000 donation raised through the Walk for Diabetes this year.

(PRWEB) August 6, 2004 -- Bill Hatswell, President of Craftsman Collision, hands the $10,000 donation to the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation's (JDRF) Deborah Cushing. Craftsman Collision's participation in the JDRF Walk to Cure Diabetes on May 30th was coordinated by Erika Hatswell (not present in photo); who made the goal of raising $10,000 for the cause a reality.

JDRF funds research worldwide for a cure for juvenile (Type 1) diabetes and has provided more than $800 million in funding since its inception. Type 1 diabetes generally threatens children, making them insulin dependant for life and at risk of serious complications.

Employees of Craftsman Collision and their families showed strong support for the cause, collecting donations and participating in the walk with Erika Hatswell -- also diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes.
