

General 2004 D1 Season Press Release

A general idea of whats going on with the 2004 D1 Season.

(PRWEB) August 7, 2004 -- Some of the industry's most promising and upcoming drivers battle it out to get a chance to compete in the first ever U.S. versus Japan event! This event will be open to any D1 hopefuls; the chosen few will be allowed to compete in the D1 series's point's races and special events within 12 months of qualifying.

We have 4 rounds of Driver Search events coming up and expect to see the future Drifters of America competing. With approximately 70 drivers per Driver Search, competition will be tough. D1 has many surprises lined up for the Driver Search events, like a never before held advanced driver's clinic taught by the Japanese pros and a comical dunk tank where judges, drivers and models alike will be subjected to a dunking. Many sponsors and booths will be present and drivers will be allowed to have their own pit areas.

On December 11th the event will consist of both a Driver Search and D1 USA Driver Search Championship to determine who will be able to go battle against the Japanese team. This event will be very exciting for all who have been following the 2004 Series.

The D1 main event, USA vs. JPN, will be a culmination of all the energy and excitement drifting has to offer! This event will be the first ever tournament to display the finest drivers from the USA and Japan. Single drift and tandem drift will be a part of the tournament schedule. We expect this event to be so exciting and awe inspiring that the fans will again be screaming from their seats: "One More Time!!"

As of 2004 D1 Productions US now oversees all operations from marketing to event production. In the past D1 has sourced out much of this work, but with a new base of operations here in Orange County, California, D1 is here to stay. D1 is currently working with many industry powers to insure the most prestigious and awe inspiring events possible in the drifting world. We are currently open to new opportunities and partnerships in order to insure that D1 continues to maintain the level of excellence and professionalism as it has already been know for. We look forward to your presence at our event and hope that it will inspire you to continue covering the legacy that D1 is building here in the states.
