(PRWEB) September 7, 2004 -- "This is a turning point in personal self expression.", states Michael Self, CEO of Window Canvas®. "Average people now have the ability to create whatever they want for the rear window of their vehicle. This is the ULTIMATE in self-expression. You can express yourself in your very own, unique and highly personal way. We are very excited about this. It is the culmination of 2 year's work and a labor of love for us."

Last year, Window Canvas® introduced their successful patent pending virtual inventory program known as GlassPass and now, they have broken new ground again.

The Create Your Own program allows a user to choose from a library of hundreds of existing Window Canvas® images, or upload their own image, add text, change positioning, colors, effects, and more. "Being innovators in this industry is what we are here to do", claims Bianca Hennings, VP Sales & Marketing.
