Kong and Kong Black Voodoo are herbal male performance supplements designed to support increased testosterone levels, libido, and athletic performance and are ordered online and distributed at select GNC Franchises, Health Food Stores and Approved Retail Partners such as BodyBuilding.com and Dietbreakthru.com.

Kong and Kong Black Voodoo are popular worldwide partially due to the fact that increased serum testosterone levels in men has been linked to improved sexual performance, reduced hair loss, reduced weight gain, increased muscle mass and density and reduced levels of body fat.

Kong and Kong BV are also gaining a dedicated following among female consumers in that increased testosterone levels in women have been found to elevate female libido.

National pharmaceutical companies have developed or released transdermal testosterone patches for females and many women are seeking a more natural alternative to prescription drugs.
