

Online Performance Automotive Solutions at Progressing Discount Price

“If anyone needs a place to sell and / or buy a car or things for cars, and doesn’t like to waste time, this is the place you looking for,” said Lfteris from Greece. “And if you want only one word for the site and the owner ... then simple ... 'superexcellent.'”

(PRWEB) September 22, 2004 -- Automotive sellers and buyers are invited to setup Dealer Accounts and Private Party Accounts at www.PCARS.com. They can sell and buy new and used performance vehicles, parts, accessories and auto care products of all types, quickly & easily online. And they’ll be saved from sifting through cluttered pages of auctions, bidding, setting up accounts and managing multiple confusing and expensive fees that can take an accountant to figure out.

“It is THE BEST site to host photos and one of the best to sell and buy things for your car!” shared Lfteris from Greece who sells Jewels for Porsches regularly on Ebay and now on PCARS.com, too. “And the site is very easy to use.”

With PCARS.com, sellers can instantly create their own account and setup their own homepage. Next they add their product information and links. Then upload images, up to eight photos included with the no-cost membership. That's it.

“As a seller I find the PCARS site very easy to list and I like that I can have large photos for my items,” Lfteris explained. “I use Ebay also, but I find the PCARS site much, much better. I'm here to stay.”

The site is developing to meet needs of the buyers and sellers. In the works are Photo Gallery for hosting pictures, AV Center for car videos, and a Forum for comments and sharing automotive tips.

Also under way is a new Progressing Discount Price(PDP) option. Sellers will have the option to list their prices so that they decrease over time, while waiting for someone to buy. This option benefits the sellers by allowing them to discount their inventories as time progresses. Additionally, this ensures that inventories may get sold at the end of the listing period (usually 30-day). The benefit for the buyers is that they get to buy the items cheaper the next day if the items have not been sold. Here is an example with this option:

All are invited to set up accounts and see how simple the site operates. Visit the site, www.PCARS.com, for more details.

“If anyone needs a place to host a very nice online photo album, to sell and / or buy a car or things for cars, and doesn’t like to waste time, this is the place you looking for,” said Lfteris. “And if you want only one word for the site and the owner ... then simple ... 'superexcellent.’”
