

A New Driver In The Race To The Top Of The Muscle Car Industry

E-Muscle, LLC has opened the doors for their new Muscle Car restoration facility on 24 West Street Building 4 in Middlefield Connecticut, to service the east coast's growing market of muscle and classic car enthusiasts.

(PRWEB) October 2, 2004 -- With the focus being on complete frame up restorations, body work, and custom paint jobs, the level of quality work from the owner of this new facility, Brian Chaffee, is well known throughout the New England area through having won many trophies at regional car shows for work on his own show cars.

“Our goal, is for E-Muscle to become the one stop location on the east coast for the full restoration of any custom, muscle, and show quality car,” says Mr. Chaffee. One benefit to working with E-Muscle is the exceptional attention to detail and one on one project attention each client receives for their show car, along with a complete photo album record of the exact process of taking their car to that show quality level. “I want to fill the void in this industry of unclean shops, unprofessional attitudes, and unhappy customers,” says Chaffee.

“We are committed to being the best in the muscle car business through use of the best products, latest technologies, and a workmanship level that is second to no one,” says Mr. Tarantino, creative manager for the custom body work division of E-Muscle. With the website launching in early October (www.everythingmuscle.com), a grand opening/muscle car expo/car show planned for spring of 2005, and a large marketing plan set for 2005, E-Muscle, LLC has no doubt that they are about to take the muscle car industry by storm in this upcoming year.

E-Muscle, LLC is currently accepting tours and appointments to see the new facility and discuss projects with potential clients. E-Muscle merchandise as well as muscle/classic car parts can be purchased via the website.
