

Defensive Driving

Best Texas defensive driving course online

(PRWEB) October 13, 2004 -- Texas residents who receive traffic tickets and want to get them dismissed without sitting in a classroom for a whole day can now complete this defensive driving class requirement on the internet. For those who have not received a traffic ticket, but want to lower their insurance premiums without sitting in a classroom can also do so by taking a TEA approved online defensive driving course. Texas is among the first states to revolutionize their approach to defensive driving class requirements. The government body that regulates these online defensive driving courses is the Texas Education Agency. Since Texas gave their stamp of approval for their defensive driving courses to go online, a handful of schools have been approved by the Texas Education Agency. The best one in terms of price, ease of use for the customer, customer support, and rich content is www.getdefensive.com. GetDefensive, wholly owned subsidiary of CyberActive Inc., a Texas corporation, is operated and run by the same individuals who were among the first to get approvals for online defensive driving courses. To get your ticket dismissed visit the getdefensive website at www.getdefensive.com or call them at 1-800-851-3007.
