About CrashDaddyRacingDecals.com:

Hooked on racing decal collecting since about age 7, Mike Gogola (a Crash Daddy), has been at it for 35+ years! My dad started me collecting with racing motor oil decals. He was in advertising and helped produce the first in-store displays for a famous motor oil product that made its name with racing decals. Soon my collecting led to buying and selling automotive and racing memorabilia. I had some fun cars along the way, like Chargers and Cutlasses, and always have followed just about any kind of motorsports. In my professional life I have worked for companies within the performance parts industry which gave me further insight into racing decals and patches distribution. It was the culmination of these backgrounds that gave me the idea to start this business. I realized that for many racers, race fans, and collectors, obtaining racing decals and racing patches can be difficult. By providing one place to go for racing decals and patches, it is our goal to bring all the racing decal and racing patch products you want them and when you need them.
