

Havis Announces Rugged Keyboard and Patent-Pending Mount System

Designed to maximize productivity in any mobile office application

WARMINSTER, Pa. (PRWEB) December 14, 2016 -- Havis Inc., a leading manufacturer of mobile office solutions for mobile professionals, has introduced the PKG-KB-201 package with rugged USB backlit keyboard and patent-pending keyboard mount with integrated quick release functionality. The rugged system is ergonomically designed to maximize comfort and increase productivity in any mobile office.

The Havis KB-101 is an IP65-rated rugged keyboard with standard USB connection with water resistant cap to allow for connection to a docking station or directly to a computing device. The keyboard includes 89 red monochrome-illumination backlight keys, including 12 function keys, to reduce eye strain, and a multi-touch, two-finger mousepad for cursor and scroll functions. The rugged keyboard includes an emergency button to invoke “help” mode for added security. The keyboard is compatible with Mac and Microsoft Windows 7, 8, Vista, XP, 2000, ME and 98.

The new PKG-KB-201 system also includes Havis’ patent-pending rugged keyboard mount made of high-performance PC-ABS thermoplastics for outstanding strength, heat resistance, feature definition and surface finish, reinforced with a mount plate of glass fiber polymer for added durability. The mount has forward/backward function from the front with a 3.875” range and a quick release function from the front for easy keyboard removal to allow users to adjust the rugged keyboard to a comfortable position. The combined system weighs 3 lbs.

Havis docking stations, equipment mounts and displays are tested to the industry’s highest safety standards, including vibration and environmental testing for extreme operational and storage temperatures to ensure quality performance in the most rugged conditions. The PKG-KB-201 is certified with CE FCC and RoHS keyboard certifications.
