Tampa Bay, FL (PRWEB) November 7, 2004 -- Source of the hard to find hot and popular racing engine parts for the Acura B18C-1. Their international performance racing clientele testify to the outstanding service level and product quality delivered by HorsepowerWizard.com.

This Acura B18C-1 is versatile, and can be built for mild street performance. They are just as conducive to a full blown environment delivering up to 1,000 horsepower, as featured in recent issues of 'Engine Rebuilder Magazine'.

James Allen, Vice President of Marketing for Thompson Automotive Warehouse says, "There are two major factors that contribute to the popularity and growth of this racing segment. 1. The shift from domestic to import automobiles demographically in the United States and 2. The up and coming generation of racers enjoy the challenge of generating more horsepower from less cubic inches."

With 35 years in the performance engine business HorsepowerWizard.com's team of experts has answered literally ten's of thousands of questions, relating to the performance racing industry. They encourage phone calls through the use of their Customer Toll-free Help Hotline 1-800-741-4496. They would love to answer your questions, and help you find the right part for your situation.
