

ConversionCenter.com Specializes in Customer Service and Conversion Van Sales on Website

$\hat{A} \square$ Chat Live Now $\hat{A} \square$ functionality provides virtual assistance to conversion van buyers.

San Jose, CA (PRWEB) January 12, 2005 -- ConversionCenter.com, the internetÂ \Box s site with the most conversion vans, trucks and SUVÂ for sale, announces the addition of the Â \Box Chat Live NowÂ feature to their website. This personalized feature continues to distinguish ConversionCenter.com, as the conversion van industryÂ \Box s leading online classified, helping buyers and sellers of these unique vehicles consummate the transaction.

If visitors to ConversionCenter.com have questions about inventory, parts, accessibility, dealers, or more, they can initiate an online $\hat{A} \square$ conversation $\hat{A} \square$ with a virtual assistant. With online representatives that have years of practical automotive experience and schooled in the nuances of what is available on ConversionCenter.com, most questions can be answered real-time. Given the eventual question which requires further research, a team of customer relationship specialists put their efforts into answering even the most difficult questions.

During moments when ConversionCenter.com online representatives are not available for virtual assistance, there are numerous other e-contact points, including phone numbers for both East and West coast support.

Custom vehicles deserve custom support. The customer service from the Live Chat feature saves time and simplifies the buying process. Efficient research tools and inventory selection, along with $\hat{A} \square$ page-push $\hat{A} \square$ technology reduces the complexity in finding the conversion van, truck or SUV of choice.
