(PRWEB) January 18, 2005 -- Victim of international con artist tells all in her newly published book, I Fell in Love with a Con Man, by Elizabeth Grzeszczyk.

I Fell in Love with a Con Man is the true crime story of a professional independent redhead from New England who is swept off her feet by Dr. Jonathan Palmer, the glamorous British Formula One Grand Prix race car driver while she's on a business trip in South Beach, Florida. Months later Elizabeth's life crumbles when she learns her boyfriend is really Jonathan Nigel-Philip Kern, an internationally wanted con man who has made Dr. Palmer's life a nightmare by impersonating him all over the world. Determined not to let Kern ruin her life, Elizabeth fights back and presses charges. A passionate affair with her new boss, Georg Schick, the President of Spectro Analytical Instruments in Fitchburg, MA not only rebuilds her confidence, but gives her the opportunity to move to Europe where she surprises and enrages the con man by testifying against him in Paris.

Elizabeth's story has been the subject of numerous newspaper articles, not only in the United States but abroad as well. In 2003, Elizabeth's story was featured in the Sunday Times in South Africa. Jonathan Kern's father, Cyril Kern, is a wealthy South African businessman who was involved in a scandal for loaning Israeli Prime Minister Ariel Sharon $1.5 million.

Elizabeth appeared on Unsolved Mysteries along with Dr. Palmer. An abbreviated version of her story also appeared in Marie Claire magazine "I Fell in Love with a Con Man and It Cost Me Everything" and in Sports Illustrated magazine "Sports Imposters-The Hall of Fakes".
