

Website Offers Free Classified Listings of Lexus Vehicles

A new website LexusTrader.com is offering new users free vehicle classified listings. Lexus Trader also lets users research Lexus vehicles before buying.

(PRWEB) January 29, 2005 -- Anyone trying to buy or sell a Lexus vehicle now has a new option. Lexus Trader is a new vehicle website targeted to Lexus buyers and sellers. The site <http://www.lexustrader.com> is striving to become a location where users can research, locate, and purchase Lexus vehicles.

Lexus Trader lets users read other's reviews of their Lexus cars and SUVs as well as offering technical data on different Lexus models. Users can search for a vehicle by state, year, and model. The site also offers a dealer directory where users can find a local dealer. Future plans for the site include insurance information, access to pricing data, and expansion of their forums for visitor discussions.

The site has just been released to the public and is growing daily. With the popularity of Lexus vehicles the site has many possibilities. Lexus Trader is owned and operated by Modified Imports, a company with five years of web experience.
