

OWD Welcomes New Off-Road Editor Charlie Rauseo

OneWheelDrive.Net is pleased to congratulate Charlie on his successful running of his second attack of the Dakar, and ecstatic to have him join our staff as Off-Road Editor.

(PRWEB) February 5, 2005 -- If you've been following OneWheelDrive.Net's 2005 Dakar Coverage, the name Charlie Rauseo already be familiar to you; Charlie has just completed the Dakar, possibly the world's most grueling rally. We're very pleased to congratulate Charlie on his successful running of his second attack of the Dakar, and ecstatic to have him join our staff! We will, however, encourage him to have a good long shower before attending any team meetings.

Charlie Rauseo will be joining OneWheelDrive.Net's staff as Off-Road Editor commencing late February 2005, after a suitable post-Dakar rest. Charlie's ongoing contributions and his exceptional off-road experience make him a perfect choice for this new post. The creation of this new position focusing on off-road and adventure riding reconfirms OneWheelDrive.Net's commitment to bring diverse, entertaining, and personal coverage to our chosen passion and sport. With Charlie's location in San Francisco, California, his addition to our team highlights our presence in the United States.

Enquiries, suggestions, story ideas, or promotional opportunities pertaining to Charlie Rauseo's new position with OneWheelDrive.Net, or our upcoming Off-Road gear and product reviews, can be directed to Editor@OneWheelDrive.Net or be made by phone to +1 604.328.1970. See you in the dirt!

Sincerely,
