

NASCAR Fans Have Something to Sing about...A Free Racing MP3 Just in Time for Daytona

Dickey Records New "Unofficial NASCAR Anthem and Gives it Away to Racing Fanatics!

(PRWEB) February 9, 2005 -- Singer/Songwriter Dickey (aka: Mark Kaye) has written and produced a new song about the most popular sport in the country, NASCAR.

The song is called "Let's Race" and from now until the Daytona 500 (February 20), he is offering fans a free download on his official website www.dickeyusa.com.

Dickey says "I only write about things that I truly love: Beer, my wife, summertime, for example. Now I've written a song about my favorite sport: NASCAR."

On giving away the song for free, Dickey explains, "I really want the fans to hear this song, and I know that they've already blown their money on tickets to the race, Earnhardt T-Shirts, and a big ol' RV filled to the roof with cans of Budweiser, so they probably don't have a whole lot of cash left to buy albums. This is my gift to anybody who loves racing as much as I do."

Dickey has been producing and selling songs for years, but this is the first time he has given a song away for free on his website www.dickeyusa.com.
