

Propark Offers Discount Parking for Harvard University's Hasty Pudding Theatricals

Patrons of Hasty Pudding Theatricals are eligible for convenient, discounted parking and free transportation, to and from the theater, in an authentic London Taxi.

Cambridge, MA (PRWEB) February 18, 2005 -- Propark America has announced that it will provide discounted parking for patrons of Hasty Pudding Theatricals at the Charles Hotel Garage in Cambridge. Theater-goers who choose to park at the facility will be eligible for free round-trip transportation in the Garage Cab, an authentic London Taxi which normally provides garage patrons with complimentary transportation to area restaurants.

"The Hasty Pudding Theatricals production team expressed a need for convenient, affordable parking for their patrons," explained Jay Kelly, Charles Hotel Garage customer service manager. "We are delighted that the Charles Hotel Garage can offer this for an organization with the reputation and stature that Hasty Pudding has."

Hasty Pudding Theatricals was founded in 1795, and has been a staple of the Harvard University culture. This year's performance of "Terms of Frontierment" (February 18 to March 20) is the latest installment of the group's unique brand of student-written theater which has been presented on a yearly basis since 1891; the only exceptions were during World War I and II, according to the group's website.

"While the theater is only less than a third of a mile away from the garage, we will be providing free transportation in our London Cab," declared Steve Miller, the Vice President of Business Development. "Not only will people enjoy what is sure to be a phenomenal performance, but they can arrive and depart in style. Our goal with the Garage Cab is to make it part of the cultural fabric of Harvard Square, something that Hasty Pudding Theatricals is renowned for."
