

RVDA's Phil Ingrassia and RV Learning Center's Holly James Earn Certified Association Executive Designation

Recreation Vehicle Dealers Association (RVDA) Vice President for Communications Phil Ingrassia and RV Learning Center Director Holly James have earned the Certified Association Executive (CAE) designation from the American Society of Association Executives.

Fairfax, VA (PRWEB) February 28, 2005 -- Recreation Vehicle Dealers Association (RVDA) Vice President for Communications Phil Ingrassia and RV Learning Center Director Holly James have earned the Certified Association Executive (CAE) designation from the American Society of Association Executives.

The CAE credential is widely recognized as an indication of demonstrated skill in leadership, activity in community affairs, and expertise in association management. Less than five percent of all association executives have achieved this distinction.

Among association professionals "CAE" is an indication of demonstrated skill in leadership and expertise in association management. To earn the CAE credential, an applicant must obtain a minimum number of years of required experience, complete multiple hours of specialized professional development, pass a stringent examination in association management, and pledge to uphold a code of ethics.

ASAE is the leading authority in association management, and the professional society for those who work in the association industry.

RVDA is the national association representing RV retailers. The association's members include RV dealers, RV rental operators, and RV AfterMarket sales and service locations.
