

Elysium Hires Todd Weiss as Director of Strategic Accounts

Elysium Hires Todd Weiss as Director of Strategic Accounts. Company Primed to Further Expand into Automotive OEM and Upper Tier Suppliers.

Southfield, MI (PRWEB) March 5, 2005 -- Elysium Inc., a leading global provider of multi-CAD enabling software, today announced the addition of Todd Weiss to its sales management team. As Director of Strategic Accounts, Weiss will manage critical automotive accounts for Elysium.

Weiss has more than 12 years experience selling enterprise data management/creation/collaboration technologies in the discrete manufacturing community. As a major account representative for Hewlett Packard, CoCreate and PTC, Weiss worked with companies that produced over 1 billion in annual revenue.

“We are delighted that Todd is joining Elysium,” said Cecil Lewis, general manager - Americas, Elysium Inc. “It is a reflection of the way Elysium is growing. The strategic accounts are critical to the success of the company and Todd’s experience in maintaining and initiating new business is ideal to continue the expansion of Elysium’s market presence.”

“I chose to work for Elysium based on their industry leading feature-based translation technology,” said Weiss. “Over the past few years, Elysium has laid the groundwork with the right technology and the right customers. With the arsenal of sophisticated Elysium products at my disposal, it is now the right time to further expand and present the technology advances to aerospace, automotive tiers and OEMs. Elysium’s feature-based technology is currently being used in a production environment at Joy Mining and a major aerospace supplier.”
